38 OUT OF 40 UNION LABOR OFFICIALS IN THE DYNAMITE CONSPIRACY FOUND GUILTY

VERDICT BROUGHT IN BY THE JURY AT INDIANAPOLIS AT 10 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

LARGEST NUMBER OF LABOR MEN EVER FOUND GUILTY AT ONE TIME IN HISTORY OF THE
UNITED STATES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 28.—Of the 40 union labor officials accused of conspiracy in the transportation of dynamite, 38 were found guilty in the federal court here this morning.
Two of the accused men, Herman Seiffert and Daniel Buckley, were acquitted and were immediately discharged.

The verdict was brought in by the jury shortly before 10 o'clock this morning and in part was as follows:
"We, the jury, hereby find the defendants, Ryan, Butler, Hocklin, Treltmo, Clancy, Cooley, Youngs, Higgins, Munsey, Webb, Farrell,
Barry, Morris, Legleitner, Baum,
Reddin, Cunane, Houlihan, Cooney, Coughlin, Shough, Smythe, Ray,
Fennell, Burnhardt, Brown, McKain,
Painter, Smith, Anderson, Hannan, Phillips, Wachtmeister, Murphy,
Mooney, Baser, Sherman and Kline, guilty as charged in the indictment,
and Defendants Buckley and Seiffert not guilty."

Immediately after the verdict of the jury had been read the federal court adjourned until 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, when Judge Anderson will take up the matter of sentences.

During the reading of the verdict
some of the defendants paled noticeably, but the majority of them took the announcement without showing any signs of emotion. Sobs among the women, wives and relatives of the defendants, and the screams of a child in the lobby heightened the awfulness of the scene within the court room.

This is the largest number of laboring men ever found guilty at one time in the history of the United States.

The jury in the case was out 41 hours. It is expected an appeal will be taken by the attorneys for the defendants after sentence has been passed.

When the adjournment of court was announced the 38 men found guilty by the verdict were formed into a double line and marched from the federal building to the Marion county jail.

The verdict is taken to mean that every one of the defendants is liable to the maximum penalty within the law, which is 39 years in the penitentiary and a fine. It is within the power of the court, however, to suspend the sentence or impose fines without imprisonment, or impose both.

The general belief today is that the average sentence will be about 18 months to two years in the penitentiary.

EXPLOSION IN SHOPS KILLS NINE

WORKMEN EXAMINING BOILER
MEET INSTANT DEATH TODAY

SEABOARD SHOPS AT HAMLET,
N. C., PRACTICALLY DEMOL-ISHED AND ONE BODY IS BLOWN 200 FEET.

HAMLET, N. C., Dec. 28.—Nine men, six whites and three negroes, were killed this morning in an explosion in the Seaboard shops at this place.

The men were examining a boiler which was out of order at the time of the explosion. The dead are Charles Utter, the roundhouse foreman, William Utter, his brother, and H. G. Reynolds, an electrician, and six negro workmen.

The machine shops were demolished, one section of boiler being blown through an 18-inch wall and carried 500 feet. One body was blown 200 feet.

NEGRO SETS JAIL AFIRE; IS BURNED TO DEATH.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28.—
The town jail at Archer was burned to the ground yesterday and a negro prisoner was incinerated. It is believed that he set the building afire to burn his way out and that he was overcome by the smoke before egress was made by the flames.

The building was enveloped in flames before anyone was aware of the tragedy.

The cries of the doomed man were heartrending, but nothing could be done towards rescuing him, as no one could approach the blaze.

When the building was consumed
the charred remains of the prisoner were found in the ruins.

STAUNTON, Va., Dec. 28.—Presi-

56 years ago, feeling better but still pale from his recent cold. The New Jersey executive is spending the day renewing acquaintances among the scenes of his boyhood days. Political lines were forgotten in the ecutive of the United States.

PEACE ENVOYS ARE STILL IN A DEADLOCK

BALKAN ALLIES AND TURKISH REPRESENTATIVES BOTH FIRM

AT PRESENT TIME THERE IS LITTLE PROSPECT FOR DELE-GATES TO COME TO ANY DEFINITE UNDERSTANDING.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—After a session of two hours today the peace conference of envoys of the Balkan states and Turkey remains in a deadlock, and there doesn't seem to be any prospect for the delegates to come to an understanding at this time.

The Balkan allies are firm in their demands that Turkey shall be allowed to retain only a foothold in Europe and the Ottomans ridicule this proposition. It looks like mediation will be necessary.

ROOMY YACHT BOREAS IS HERE ON WAY TO MIAMI.

The yacht Boreas of Brielle, N.
J., arrived here Friday afternoon from St. Augustine and tied up at the Halifax River Yacht club wharf.
Before continuing her cruise south
the Boreas will haul out at Mc-Donald's boat yard for some slight repairs. On board the Boreas are her owners, Messrs. Lewis J., Frank J. and Floyd A. Potter, who are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H.
Murphy and Lewis P. Murphy. The Boreas touched at this place last winter while cruising in these waters, but since that time her appearance has been greatly altered by her lengthening of the boat some 25 feet and the addition of a pilot house in the bow. The Boreas flies pennants of the Bay Head and Man-asquan River Yacht clubs.

PRESIDENT NOT TO STOP AT DAYTONA

TAFT WILL PASS THROUGH
HERE AT TOO EARLY HOUR

SCHEDULE CALLS FOR SPECIAL TRAIN TO MAKE FAST RUN
FROM KEY WEST AND REACH
DAYTONA AT 5 A. M.

It is now definitely known that President Taft will pass through Daytona on his way back to Washington about 5 o'clock in the morning next Monday, and because of the early hour prospects for having the special train carrying the nation's chief executive stop here have gone glimmering.

In order to make sure of reaching the capital in time for the annual
New Year's reception at the White House the president will have to make fast time after his start from Key West Sunday and all unnecessary stops have been cut out of the schedule arranged for his special train.

It had been planned for the executive to stop in Key West five hours after his arrival there Sunday afternoon, but this time has been shortened and the party will stay in the Island City only the time necessary to hurry through with the ceremonies planned by the citizens, and the special will start its journey north as soon as possible. Fast time will be made over the Florida East Coast line, and the schedule calls for the special to pass through Daytona about 5 o'clock Monday morning, reaching St. Augustine at 8 a. m. and Jacksonville soon after 10 o'clock. The plan calls for the president to spend one and a half hours in the Ancient City.

It is possible that arrangements could have been made for the special to make a short stop at Daytona if the time of arrival was not so early in the morning.

MEDALS OF HONOR FOR FIVE OFFICERS

President Taft the other day presented the medal of honor to five young army officers for bravery under fire. The recipients were Capt. Julian Gaujot, Capt. Archie Miller, Lieut. A. H. Wilson, Lieut. J. T. Kennedy and Quartermaster Sergeant Joseph Henderson. Captain Gaujot earned his medal at Douglas, Ariz., and the others in the Philippines.

The Word Raid in Italian.
 A correspondent seems to be amused because the Italians, borrowing the English word ride, in a special sense, choose to spell it phonetically in accordance with their own sound system.

But this surely is neither absurd nor unusual. In French, for example, we have rosblif, raout, bouledogue, and other words which illustrate the same principle; and in English there is breeze, from the French brise (or Spanish briza); junket, from the Italian giuncata; coracle, from the Welsh cwrwg; reel, from the Gaelic righil, in all of which and in many other words an attempt has been made to represent the foreign sound by a more or less phonetic English spelling.

The word raid is not quite new, however, in Italian. I find it several times in an Italian newspaper of more than four years ago which I happen to have at hand, e. g., "il raid Pekino Parigi."—From a Letter in the Spectator.

Just to Cheer.

 Young Wife—Oh, George, George, don't!
 Young Hub—In the cheers of victory.

The world is indebted to the Chinese for the discovery of the virtues of the silk worm. Its product was unknown in Rome until the time of Julius Caesar, and so costly was the material that even the Emperor Aurelian refused a dress of this lustrous fabric to his empress. Now it is nurtured in almost every country, and its products are within the reach of all.

Besides the several domesticated species there is a wild silk worm found in Central America, which weaves a baglike structure two feet in depth, that hangs from the trees. At a distance the nest resembles a huge matted cobweb. The insect makes no cocoon, but weaves the silk in layers and skeins around the inside of the nest. From Tegucigalpa there were sent to England some years ago six pounds of this silk. There it was made into handkerchiefs not easily detected from common silk of equal strength and delicate texture.

There is a curious silk-producing spider in Central America, the arana de seda, which may be seen hurrying along with a load of fine silk on its back, from which trail numerous delicate filaments.—Harper's Weekly.

ANCIENT CELLS ARE FOUND

Abode of Prisoners in the Time of Charles II. Are Unearthed in London.

A fitting abode for criminal relics to be exhibited at the new London museum at Kensington palace has been found in two prison cells, which were discovered by a gentleman connected with the London county council in an old house in Wellclose square, St. Georges-in-the-East. The cells, which are believed to date back to the time of Charles II. and to have been subsequently used in connection with the Whitechapel police court, were occupied in a common lodging house when discovered. In the walls, which are built of oak, thickly studded with strong iron bolts, were the original fetters used for the condemned prisoners, together with a plank bed upon which no doubt many a criminal spent his last night upon earth.

The complete cells have been dismantled by experts acting under instructions from Guy Laking, custodian of the new museum, and they will be re-erected in their entirety in the annex at the museum at Kensington, where visitors will be able, not only to pass in and out of them and inspect the many quaint inscriptions on the walls, but examine the massive iron bolts on the exterior, which defied the efforts of the most wily prisoners to force an exit. An old oak staircase still stands in the house in Wellclose square, but this will not be removed.

Radium and Plant Growth.

A series of interesting experiments is being carried on in the laboratory of Professor Noorden, Vienna. Plants have been subjected to radio-active influence, and it has been ascertained that such plants grow to nearly twice the size of those not subjected to the influence of radium.

VERY ANGRY WAS MR. JENKS

Laundry Had Not Come Home and He Proceeded to Explode via Telephone.

It was Sunday morning and Mr.
 Jenks' laundry had not come home.
 Angry is no name for the condition in which Mr. Jenks found himself. Giving utterance to language which would be entirely unfit for Sunday reading, he rushed to the telephone and hastily looked up in the directory the number of the laundry. "Give me 4114 Baxter!" he shouted fiercely to central.

"Hello!" came the response a little later.

"This is Mr. Jenks and I want my shirts," he replied wrathfully.

"Your shirts?" questioned the voice.
 "Yes, my shirts," shouted Mr. Jenks emphatically. "I won't be trifled with any longer. Let me have those shirts within half an hour—do you hear!"

"But I haven't got your shirts," answered the voice with exasperating calmness. "Why do you think I have?"

"Why do I think you have? Great Scott!" cried Jenks furiously. "You haven't sent them home. Where are they, if you haven't got them?"

"I really don't know and I—really don't care," replied the voice.

"You—" began Mr. Jenks fiercely, and then bethought himself. "Isn't this the Washup laundry?" he inquired more mildly.

"No," responded the voice, "this is a private apartment."

Swedish Court in Days of Bernadotte.

If Lady Kilmarnock were to wear Scottish dress when she arrives in Stockholm she would be like the wife and family of our ambassador there 80 years ago, who were afterward told by the maids of honor that they mistook the tartan for a livery of the servants and wondered when the lad-dies would appear. Court dress when Bernadotte was king was sometimes black and sometimes gray or white, but it always included a particular slashed sleeve, and the master of ceremonies fetched the minister to court in a glass coach. In winter both the king and the queen had a habit of turning night into day. She went out driving after dark and dined after the play, and he undermined the health of his ministers by engaging them all through the night or summoning them at 3 in the morning. And sometimes the king remained in bed
 for weeks at a time, fearing poison, and sustaining himself largely on apples in consequence.

For the month of November the Florida East Coast railway shipped from Cocoa 38,639 boxes of oranges.
 From December 1 to 14, inclusive, there were shipped 42,061 boxes of oranges and grape fruit. And since the 15th of November express shipments have averaged approximately 100 boxes per day in addition to the freight shipments. — Cocoa - Rock-

There will be considerable cane profitable crop will add another big arrangements are perfected it will plant sugar cane on its Volusia

While on the way from Jacksonville to St. Petersburg, Moses Casey of Dowagiac, Mich., fell from a passenger train near Center Hill. He was missed a short time afterward, although no one saw him fall, and a searching party was sent out from Center Hill. Casey, who is 70 years of age, was found walking along the track toward St. Petersburg, unhurt, and as unconcerned about the accident as though falling from a moving train was no unusual thing for him.

We can readily understand why the growers of the north end orange belt of the state desire to get the fruit from the trees by or before Christmas. They are afraid of a

there is no reason why the growers of danger of hurting cold is not so great as farther north. — Volusia County

JUST GOSSIP BY THE GOSSIPER.

E. R. Kindig of First avenue believes in protection. And this statement calls for an explanation. The night of Christmas day there was a strange, unwelcome visitor on the Kindig premises and the light of the next morning revealed the fact that the intruder had dug his way under Mr. Kindig's brooder, where he had 29 chickens, ranging from eight to ten weeks old, and that 13 out of 29 had been killed. This was a signal for Mr. Kindig to get busy, so Thursday night he placed two steel traps at the excavation and baited them with one of the dead chickens. Friday morning the intruder was found with one hind leg caught in each of the traps and he was dispatched with a charge of bird shot. It proved to be a four-pound skunk.

The efforts being made by the citizens and authorities in St. Augustine to clean out the confidence men and crooks and keep the city clean of this class of men during the winter season, should stir to action the authorities of other cities along the East Coast. It seems logical that such an organization could be perfected among the police departments of all the East Coast towns, with the object of having a description of every one of this class of men driven out of one town being immediately forwarded to the officers of every one of the other towns. In this way these fellows could be kept moving on. There is plenty of room to jump off at the end of the line.

By the way, what ever became of the special committee appointed by the president of the city council to investigate the cost of an automobile fire truck and the advisability of keeping one or two firemen on duty at all times to keep such a truck ready for immediate use and handle it at times of fire? There are many citizens who are strongly in favor of adding whatever tax is necessary to purchase and maintain such an acquisition to the fire fighting apparatus to guard against a serious conflagration and lessen the general insurance rates in the city. The feeling of these citizens is that it is better to make such provision before than after a disastrous fire. Let's have the committee report.

Recently The Gossiper witnessed a near - serious collision between two automobiles at the corner of Fairview and North Beach street, one car going north on Beach street and the other east on Fairview, both turning the corner at a speed which could by no means be taken for slow, and neither sounding a warning horn before making the turn. Both drivers were girls and the only thing that prevented a serious collision was the fact that neither lost her head, but swung sharply to the right and the cars whizzed by each other with an inch or two to spare. Another instance of the necessity for complying with the city ordinance requiring the sounding of automobile horns and whistles before turning corners.

"This is Daytona, the Most Beautiful Winter Resort in the World." Is the sign announcing this fact at the F. E. C. railway depot to be neglected this season? This is the question that is being frequently asked at the depot of late. No provision appears to have been made for the turning on of the lights which illuminate the sign at night, and the sign itself needs some little attention as weeds and vines are obstructing the face of it. This is a matter that should be given attention. The sign is an excellent advertising feature for the city and attracts the notice of passengers on all trains and is especially effective when the lights are turned on at night, as they should be now, when southbound trains are crowded with passengers, many of whom may be induced to stop over on their return and investigate the claim made by the sign.

All the members of Saracina's Royal Italian band, which is to give daily concerts in Daytona through the months of January, February and March, will be in Daytona in plenty of time to give the opening concert the afternoon of the first day of the new year. The innovation of having daily band concerts in Daytona is one which will be thoroughly appreciated by the citizens and visitors alike. Soon after the first of the new year the new boat of the Coastal Inland Navigation company will make its initial trip from Jacksonville to Daytona. The officers of the company have honored the city by naming the boat the City of Daytona, and it is suggested that when the vessel makes its first landing at the dock in this city it should be welcomed by the band and a demonstration in which every man, woman and child in Daytona should take part. The new ship should be welcomed to its new home in royal style.

President Taft will pass through Daytona Monday morning for the second time in two weeks, but without stopping or even having a chance to get a look at the prettiest winter resort in the country of which he is the executive. If the engine pulling the president's special does as much whistling going through the city of Daytona as a majority of the East Coast engines do, the executive's slumber will be disturbed for several minutes.

The manager and several members of the Saracina Royal Italian band, which is to play in Daytona during the remainder of the tourist season, arrived in the city during the past week. The chilly weather this morning caused the manager of the band to suggest his players should have some kind of a shelter as a protection against chilly weather, and Ed. Oates suggests the city borrow the "Opera House" standing beside the DeLand road, bring it to Daytona, have some curtains made to hang on the windward side and donate it to the use of the band.

One of the worst features of the congestion of express at this place during the past week or more, due to the parsimony of the Southern Express company in not providing sufficient room and competent help to handle the extra business of this season of the year, was the delay in shipment and consequent suffering of live stock billed to or from this place. One case which may be cited was that of a turkey consigned to a point on the lower coast that remained at the depot for three or four days awaiting shipment. The bird in the first place should not have been received as the box in which it was confined was not of sufficient size to permit the bird to stand erect. No provision for water or feed seems to have been made, probably because the shipper supposed the turkey would reach its destination within a few hours. The employees of the express office were overworked and worried by people clamoring for packages and the turkey stood a good chance of starving, but for the pity of bystanders, who fed and watered it when they discovered its plight.

It is needless to inform the agents of Uncle Sam that the people in Daytona will begin to patronize the new parcels post system immediately after it is put into operation next Wednesday morning. The increased business through the Daytona postoffice will be demonstration enough that the suffering people of this city will welcome the relief from dependency on the Southern Express company. The operation of the parcels post will be a new thing, but there won't be the usual skepticism about taking up with a new venture, so far as the people of this city are concerned - nothing can be worse than the service of the express company. When The Gossiper declares the express service is rotten, he speaks advisedly, and here is at least one instance to prove it: Last week the Daily News ordered a printing chase sent by express from DeLand. It was delivered to the express company and listed for shipment at Orange City December 20th. The chase was delivered to the Daily News office about noon yesterday, requiring seven days to carry the chase 40 miles. If that isn't rotten service, then The Gossiper doesn't know any word in the English language to express it.

CITY MAY ASSESS PROPERTY HIGHER THAN COUNTY RATE

DECISION HANDED DOWN BY THE
STATE SUPREME COURT HAS AN IMPORTANCE THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE STATE.

Under a decision of the supreme court of the state of Florida, cities in the state can assess property at a higher valuation than the assessment placed on the same property by the county. The case was appealed from Pinellas county (St.
Petersburg) and is regarded as one of the most important ever handed down by the state's highest tribunal, as it affects not only the city from which the case was appealed, but every municipality in Florida, the right of a city to assess at a higher valuation than the assessment made by the county officials being upheld.

The supreme court by its decision holds that the assessment can be higher, and sustains the city in its right to place its own valuation on property within the city, regardless of the valuation fixed by the county for state and county purposes. Under this new ruling Daytona can assess at full valuation and the county tax assessor can continue to place the customary one-fifth or one-fourth valuation on the same property, the city thereby being able to increase its bond limit through the higher valuation without having to be assessed higher by the county and pay more than its share of the expenses of the state government.

WHY SHE CHANGED HER MIND

Where Wifely Ignorance Is Husbandly
Bliss 'Twere Folly to Put Her Wise.

Mrs. Blithers had not always found herself in an approving mood in respect to the so-called sports of the sterner sex, and her opinions concerning golfers who spend Sunday on the links, or sportsmen who shoot pigeons, were so very decided that Blithers invariably looked around for cotton to stuff in his ears when she began to deliver them. One can imagine his surprise, the other night, when the good lady suggested the idea of his taking her to a horse race some time. The notion that she could bring herself to approve of such a diversion had never occurred to Blith-ers, and he gazed at her in simple amazement.

"You don't mean to say that you approve of horse-racing?" he demanded.
"Well, I didn't use to," Mrs. Blithers replied, "but now that I am coming to know more about it I think I do. I've been taking the trouble to read about the races that are allowed to be run latterly, and I have made up my mind that there's more good in those racetrack men than we've given them credit for."

"Well, well, well!" laughed Blith-ers, "Wonder of wonders! What has brought about this remarkable change?"

"Well, I've discovered how kind those men are to their horses," said Mrs. Blithers. "I noticed last week that every time a horse wasn't feeling well enough to run, his owner, instead of going out and beating him with a whip, has in every case gone out and scratched the poor animal!"

LOCAL MAN HAS SUIT CASES STOLEN IN JACKSONVILLE

CHRISTMAS AND THIEVES GET IN THEIR WORK AT THE UNION DEPOT.

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 28 — That thieves and visiting crooks were busy Christmas day and the night previous is evidenced by the list of articles reported stolen at police headquarters and the detectives are busy investigating the robberies.

J. H. Bacon of Daytona, Fla., who is stopping at Schmidt's hotel, came to Jacksonville to spend Christmas.
He carried a brown leather suit case and another imitation case. He left the suit cases at the Union depot for a few minutes while he looked about him, and they were stolen. As they contained nearly all his clothing, he is depending upon the police to help him.

BLACK PATTI SHOW IS ENTERTAINING ATTRACTION

There are many ways in which the Black Patti musical comedy dif-

a visit to this show when it comes

Wednesday night will compel those who have been complaining, that all the shows are alike to qualify this statement by adding, except the Black

this year, the 17th trans-American

HOW INDIANS MADE HISTORY

Only In Tradition Does History Live
and Only One Version of Story Is Ever Heard.

If we could only get at the facts of the history of our Indian tribes, it would be of interest to compare these with what is related as the fortune of most civilized nations. It is only in tradition that the history of the Indian lives, and only one version of the story is ever heard. Sometimes this is so true to nature that no room for doubt can be found. Such is the following chapter from the annals of the Beavers, a Canadian tribe.

One day a young chief shot his arrow through a dog belonging to another brave. The brave revenged the death of his dog and instantly a hundred bows were drawn. Ere night had fallen some eighty warriors lay dead around the camp, the pine woods rang with the lamentations of the women;
the tribe had lost its bravest men.

There was a temporary truce. The friends of the chief whose arrow had killed the dog yet numbered some sixty people, and it was agreed that they should separate from the tribe and seek their fortune in the vast wilderness lying to the south.

In the night they began their march; sullenly their brethren saw them depart, never to return. They went their way to the shores of the Lesser Slave Lake, toward the great plains which were said to be far southward, by the banks of the swift-rolling Saskatchewan.

The tribe of the Beavers never saw this exiled band again, but a hundred years later a Beaver Indian who followed the fortunes of a white fur hunter found himself in one of the forts of the Saskatchewan. Strange Indians were camped about the palsades; they were members of the great Blackfoot tribe, whose hunting grounds lay south of the Saskatchewan. Among them were a few braves who when they conversed spoke a language different from that of the others; in this language the Beaver Indian recognized his own tongue.— Harper's Weekly.

Foretells the Disagreeable.
"The first thing I do every morning is to tell my wife that she looks younger and more beautiful every day." "Doesn't she ever suspect that you are lying?" "Oh, yes; she knows it; but it keeps her from starting in to find fault with me, just the same."

English
youths of the latter eighteenth century used
to feel sorry for
the hard luck of their prim young Prince of Wales. His father, King
George III,
brought the boy
George IV.
up far more strictly than any clergyman's son. Young George Augustus Frederick was kept busy by his tutors, lectured by his parents and guarded against any knowledge of the world's gayety. If there was anything in strict upbringing he ought to have grown into a sort of a saint. Instead (when he was eighteen and the bondage of tutors and father was removed), he became one of the worst blackguards of his time.

This was in 1780. The moment his education was finished Prince George started another sort of education on his own account. Forgetting every lesson of decency that had been taught him he plunged into the wildest, most depraved dissipation. He drank, gambled, defied the moral law.
His life was a national scandal. A liar, a libertine, a drunkard, a man who gambled with money that was not his own, he is said to have added to his other vices by such crooked horse racing "deals" that the Jockey club had to "warn him off the turf."

With it all he was handsome, had charm of manner—when he cared to—and was a slave (as well as master) to fashion. These qualities won him the title of "First Gentleman of Europe." His sayings, his dress, his manner were copied by the "fast set"
and his approving nod was coveted by social climbers. Though he was often kindly in a careless sort of way, when it cost him nothing, yet there is perhaps no case known where he sacrificed his own comfort or pleasure for any one.

His first political act was to join his father's enemies in parliament.
In return for his support these politicians tried to raise George's yearly allowance from $250,000 to $500,000.
His father, George III, refused to allow this. And father and son grew to hate each other. The prince proceeded to run deep into debt and to marry a Mrs. Fitzherbert. As crown prince of England he had no right to marry without his father's consent. When he was brought to account for it he calmly denied the marriage and lured an unsuspecting friend (the statesman, Fox) into publicly backing the denial.

More and more money he got from parliament as time went on. But every penny of it went into gambling or for other low purposes. He was forever in debt. His father went insane, partly because of his son's behavior. George amused his cronies by mimicking the crazy king's ravings. Then in 1795, during a lucid interval, King George III, offered to pay the prince's debts if he would marry the Princess Caroline of Brunswick. George consented.

The marriage was most unhappy.
Caroline was frivolous and eccentric.
George was brutal and neglectful.
They separated after the birth of their only child, the Princess Charlotte (who died in 1817). George then maliciously accused his wife of unfaith-fulness and of other crimes. Though a court acquitted her, yet her reputation was wrecked.

George meantime had deserted his old friends and contracted new debts.
His father's insanity became permanent and George was made regent of Great Britain. His vile life then grew more and more a public scandal. By the time his father died in 1820 and the prince mounted the British throne as King George IV., the people hated him. He was hissed in the public streets. Once his carriage was stoned. An attempt was also made to murder him. He did little for his country, caring for politics only as a means to get more gambling money for himself.

He won a momentary popularity by visiting Ireland in 1821 and Scotland in 1822. He was the first British king to set foot in Scotland for 172 years and he was gladly received.
(Sir Walter Scott, the great writer, was so proud of the monarch's visit that he begged leave to keep forever the glass out of which George took his first drink on Scotch soil. George gave him the glass. Scott put it in his coat tail pocket for safe keeping;
then, forgetfully, sat down on it.)

In 1830, at the age of sixty-seven, George IV. died. Bad as he was and hated by decent people, England had flourished mightily during his reign.
But the land's prosperity was accomplished in spite of its king, not through any effort of his.

Worthless George IV. had unconsciously taught England an immortal lesson; namely, that a king is largely a figurehead and that a country's greatness depends not on him, but upon its people.

WHEN A MAN'S SICK.

That's the Time a Woman Does the Boss Act to Perfection.

When a woman has charge of a sick man she feels as important as the marshal of the day at a country Fourth of July celebration, and however amiable she may be at other times she is very "bossy" when she has medicine to give a man or lotions to put on him. If he wants a drink of water she expresses the opinion that he is drinking too much and remembers that her Aunt Harriet's husband once drank a great deal when he was sick and had convulsions.

If the sick man becomes impatient and says the medicine is doing no good she reminds him curtly that "time" is necessary. She has even been known to dip into the classics and say that Rome was not built in a day. The air of wisdom with which she examines the doctor books convinces the sick man that, however intelligent his medical adviser may have been, after his recovery he will be informed that he would have been sick much longer had she not used her homemade lotions. Whatever she does at night the doctor will agree in the morning that it was very good.

The sleepiest woman in the world will stay up all night cheerfully if she can get a chance to doctor somebody, and if a man has medicine to take at an unusual hour he will get it if there is a woman around. — Ed Howe in American Magazine.

USE OF "TURKISH" WORDS.

Ottomans Themselves Don't Know the Meaning of Them.

"Sublime porte" is one of those European expressions for Turkish institutions which are never used by the Turks themselves. The Ottoman government's official title for itself is Hukümet-i seniyeh, the glorious government.

Turks do not speak of "the sultan," but of the "padishah," a Persian term meaning the father of monarchs.

Turkey is a geographical expression used outside the land it denotes, but unknown to those who dwell in it. The Turks talk of Roumelia Anadol. The foreign residents may speak of Anatolia, Albania or the Lebanon. They will tell you they live at Smyrna, Saloniki or Beirut or elsewhere, but the word Turkey never crosses their lips. In the realm itself there is no collective name for the territory of the sultan.

Albania, Bulgaria and Roumania, although contiguous to one another, speak three totally different languages. The Bulgarian tongue is that of ancient Russia, and Roumanian resembles that of ancient Rome more closely than modern Italian does. Albanian has no marked affinity with any other language, though philologists have discovered in it some slight traces of Basque and Hungarian influence. — New York Sun.

A "Touching" Story.

The young lady who had sat for a crayon portrait was not altogether pleased with the result. "It looks like me, of course," she said, inspecting it doubtfully, "and yet I think there are some things about it that ought to be changed."

She suggested that the eyes should have rather more of an upward look, that the right hand should be a little less prominent, that the hair should be made more wavy and that certain changes ought to be made in the drapery.

"That would require a great deal of retouching," said the artist, "and I should have to charge you about $10 additional."

"Oh, dear!" she exclaimed, with a pout. "I shall have to give it up. Papa won't stand my 'retouching' him to that extent."

The Eagle.

According to Washington Irving, the Delaware Indian had a superstitious reverence for the eagle, believing that a guardian spirit in the form of this bird watched over them, hovering in the sky far out of sight. When pleased with their actions, he sent abundant crops and made them have great success in hunting, but when displeased he would vent his rage in the thunder, which was his voice, and the lightning, which was the flashing of his eye, and strike dead the object of his displeasure. They also believed that the feathers of this bird would render the wearer invisible and invulnerable.

One Way of Putting It.

"My dear boy," said Ennepek, who happened to be in a confidential mood, "you will never know what real happiness is until you get married."

"You don't mean it?" exclaimed Singleton, astonished at such a remark from such an unexpected source.

"It's a fact," rejoined Ennepek; "but then it will be too late for you to appreciate it." — London Answers.

Rapidly Aged.

Client (to matrimonial agent)—You showed me this lady's photo last year and told me she was twenty-five, but after making inquiries I find she is over thirty. Matrimonial Agent—Well, you see, her father died lately and that aged her very much.

Great Provocation.

"You say, madam, that you were under great excitement when you struck this woman."

"Yes. She had just found the family Bible with my age in it."

The Easiest Task.

Probably the easiest task is for a poor man to tell what a rich man should do with his money. — Atchison Globe.

AN EGYPTIAN RECIPE

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

If Farmer John Stone hadn't been a widower, if he hadn't been a bald-headed, whiskerless man, if he hadn't been in love with the Widow Davis, things might have been different. When he told her that he loved her her reply was:

"John, you are a good man, but"—
"But what is it, Mary?"
"You are baldheaded and have no whiskers."

"But I love you."
"That can't make up for it. I repeat that you are a good man, but when I think that I would have to sit here evening after evening and stare at your shiny poll it is too much."

"I—I thought if a man loved!"
"But there are the whiskers or the lack of them. No man can look dignified without 'em. Your character is all that a woman could ask for, but where is the hair? Where the whiskers?"

John Stone turned away in chagrin and despair, and there was no sleep for him for the next three nights. He was still in the dumps when a tin peddler came along and invited him to open his heart. He did so.

"Say, John, it was mean of the widow," said the peddler when he had listened to all.

"Yes, kinder."
"Kinder? Why, man, she has wrecked your life."

"Has she?"
"You want to turn around and wreck the widow."

"But how can I do it?" asked John.
"First of all, get mad at her. Say to yourself that you don't care a darn for her."

"Well, I'm feeling that way. She can go to Texas!"

"Bully for you! Now, then, you know that we peddlers take all kinds of things in trade. The other day I raked in an Egyptian mummy for $4 worth of milk pans. You know what a mummy is, don't you?"

"Some one that's been dead a thousand years."

"Exactly. When I ripped him open I found this paper."

"By George!" gasped John.
"It is writ in Egyptian, but I can read it right off. It's a recipe for making hair grow on bald heads."

"You don't say."

"And for forcing whiskers to grow on the smoothest face. It says that one month's use of it will grow side whiskers on a boy of ten."

"You can't mean it."

"You can have the preparation put up at a drug store and begin to use it, and in a month what happens? Why, you have a luxuriant crop of curly hair on your bald head and chin whiskers that fall down to your waist and are blown to wind and starboard by the breezes. You can walk up and down the road in front of the widow's house. From the window she sees you and knows she has made the mistake of her life. She calls to you to admit that she was in the wrong and that you can bring the preacher as soon as you please, but you wave her aside."

"And what?"

"And you wave her aside and go along to the Widder Stevens and propose marriage to her and hustle things along. She dotes on curly hair and chin whiskers, and will say yes at once."

"By George, but it will be great!"

"It will for sure."

"And you'll do this out of the goodness of your heart?"

"I'll do it for one-half goodness and the other half cash. The cash half is $25. Those chin whiskers alone are worth $100 to any living man."

No farmer is ready to pay out money unless he can see a return for it. Farmer Stone asked for a week to consider the matter and then closed the deal. It wasn't humanely possible for a baldheaded, whiskerless man to hold out. The formula was copied off for him, and he deposited it in a safe place until he could spare a day to go to the village. That day never came. He was killed by accident in his own field.

Then came an interval of seven years during which time nothing was said in his late community about baldheaded men. One day a stranger appeared who had heard from the peddler that John Stone had the Egyptian recipe, and he offered $5 for it. One of the widower's heirs found it in an old trunk and took the money.

The next heard of the recipe was by advertisement. A coffee and tea house, instead of giving out trading stamps, advertised to grow hair and whiskers for the buyer of every pound of tea or coffee.

They sent a lot of wagons through the country to herald the news by word of mouth, and the highways were plastered with posters, and the weekly papers reaped whole pages of advertising. The campaign was brief, but vigorous.

All those who got the recipes were directed to a certain druggist to have them filled. The druggist was a hustler and sent the stuff away by the scores and hundreds of bottles and made 400 per cent profits. At the end of ten or twelve weeks there were 800 baldheads in one county alone, and the number of burned and blistered chins and cheeks was a full thousand.

The headstone marking John Stone's grave was a rather stingy affair. After the exposure it was replaced by a better one, and the obituary was added to as follows:

"He had neither hair nor whiskers, but he was a lucky man!"

MUSIC TOUCHED HIS HEART.

But After Five Hours It Palled Upon the Thief.

A thief broke into a Madison avenue mansion early the other morning and found himself in the music room. Hearing footsteps approaching, he took refuge behind a screen.

From 8 to 9 o'clock the eldest daughter had a singing lesson.

From 9 to 10 o'clock the second daughter took a piano lesson.

From 10 to 11 o'clock the eldest son had a violin lesson.

From 11 to 12 o'clock the other son had a lesson on the flute.

At 12:15 all the brothers and sisters assembled and studied an ear splitting piece for voice, piano, violin and flute.

The thief staggered out from behind the screen at 12:45 and, falling at their feet, cried:

"For heaven's sake, have me arrested!" — Ladies' Home Journal.

No Expert.

A gang of Italians were employed on a railway contract removing earth with wheelbarrows. While proceeding with his work one of the men noticed that the wheel of his barrow was squealing terribly, and to put a stop to the noise he turned the barrow over and was in the act of greasing it when the boss noticed him and shouted out:

"Hello, Pietro! Hello, sir! What the dickens are you doing?"

"I'm greasing my barrow, sir."

"Who told you to do that?"

"No one, sir. I took it upon myself."

"Well, don't let me catch you at it again. Every man here must stick to his own job. What do you know about machinery?" — Tit-Bits.

He Was Dubious.

A Boston woman interested in matters pertaining to prison reform was a member of an investigating commission that visited a penal institution in Massachusetts. The heart of the Boston woman was bursting with pity for the poor prisoners. She passed them one by one with a sympathetic air and finally paused for a while in front of one poor chap listlessly sewing shoes.

"Oh, my poor fellow," said she, "isn't it most monotonous doing that? Won't you be glad when your sentence has expired?"

"Well, I dunno, mum," answered the convict dolefully. "Mine is a life sentence." — Judge.

Almost Universal Prayer.

"Among the late Bishop Foss' anecdotes about prayer," said a Philadelphia Methodist, "there was one concerning a very original Norristown preacher."

"This preacher, in the course of a very long prayer one Sunday night, recounted the many misfortunes and evils that had befallen him in the course of his long life. Then, sighing heavily, he prayed:

"Thou hast tried me with affliction, with bereavement and with sorrow of many kinds. If thou art obliged to try me again, Lord, try me with the burden of wealth." — St. Paul Dispatch.

Something Happened.

A train on one of the transcontinental lines that run through Kansas City and are usually late was reported on time a few days ago.

The young man who writes the particulars concerning the trains at that station put down his statistics about this train, "No. 616—from the west—on time."

Then he wrote underneath, "Cause unknown." — Philadelphia Evening Post.

An Artful Approach.

"Son, why don't you play circus? It's great fun. First you make a sawdust ring."

"Where'll I get any sawdust, dad?"

"Here's the saw. Just saw some of that cordwood into stove lengths. You can have all the sawdust you make." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

INTERESTING AND DRIVES POINTS WORTH VISITING

OCEAN BEACH—excellent north for 10 miles and south for 10 miles to Mosquito Inlet and Government lighthouse at Park. The beach is the most magnificent in the world.

BEED, KNOX & BEED ORANGE GROVE—18 miles, via Orange Grove, one of the largest groves in Volusia county and is well worth visiting; can be reached by motor on a fairly good road; can also be reached by boat.

NUMBER NINE ORANGE GROVE—large grove, passed on the way to the Beed, Knox & Beed grove is 12 miles from Daytona.

NEW SMYRNA—16 miles from Daytona, over an excellent hard-surfaced road; this drive is said to be the prettiest in the state. New Smyrna are the ruins of an ancient fort and other historical spots, left by the colony of Andrew Turnbull.

OLD SPANISH MISSION—2 miles west of New Smyrna, reached by motor over good road. This mission is without authentic history but by many it is contended that this is the church built by Columbus on his second voyage to America. The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 1 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is assumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE—at Ponce Park, 12 miles from Daytona, is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

MAMMOTH TREE—4 miles from Daytona; an abnormally large tree reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

DELAND—25 miles from Daytona, the county seat of Volusia county and seat of John B. Stetson university; a very picturesque city, reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

TOMOKA RIVER—The scenic stream of Florida; reached by excursion boats which leave Daytona daily and run to the navigable head of the stream, 26 miles from the city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in their native haunts. This is a trip no tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 28 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring that throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in an old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 10 miles south of New Smyrna; several groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona; here is located the Ormond hotel and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mills.

TURTLE MOUND—26 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other antiquities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard-surfaced road; or this trip one way may be made by the road and crossing the Halifax river on the Port Orange bridge, the return can be made on the ocean beach.

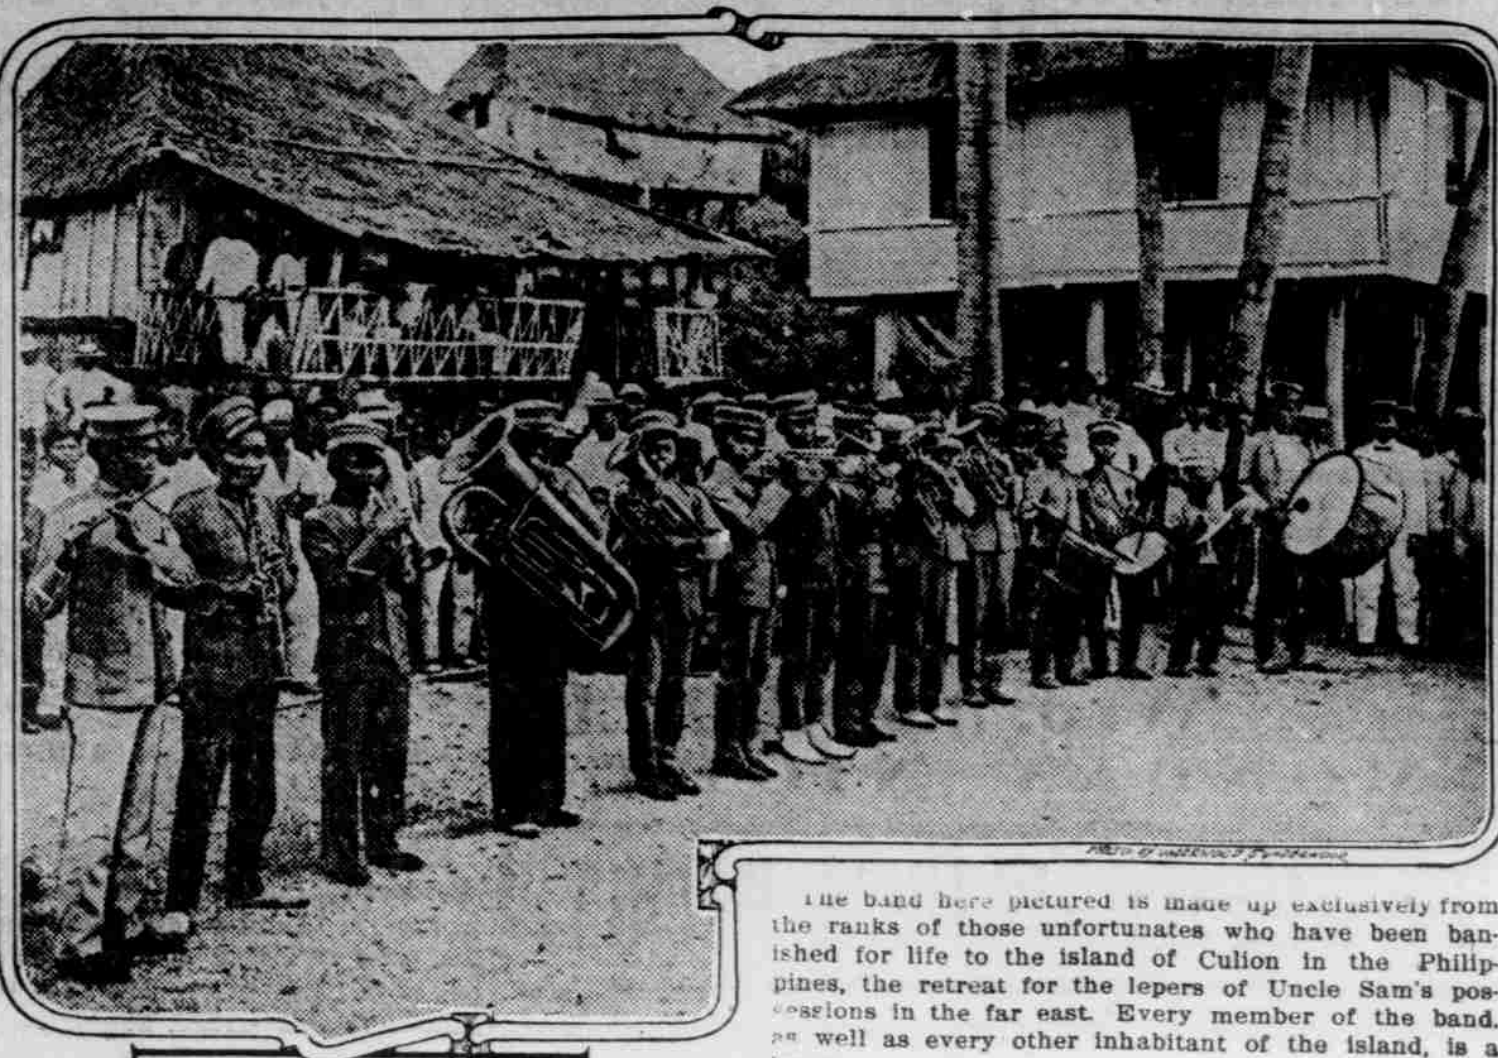

CLARENDON GOLF LINKS—2 miles from Daytona and immediately north of the Hotel Clarendon & Seabreeze; the links are now in good condition. The Hotel Clarendon bears the distinction of being the only fireproof winter tourist hotel in the world.

GENERALLY, you may motor in any direction from Daytona and find places and objects of interest which your driver can explain to you; there are many by-roads through the sylvan vegetation that a visitor will greatly enjoy.

MOST EXCLUSIVE BRASS BAND IN THE WORLD

The band here pictured is made up exclusively from the ranks of those unfortunates who have been banished for life to the island of Cullin in the Philippines, the retreat for the lepers of Uncle Sam's possessions in the far east. Every member of the band, as well as every other inhabitant of the island, is a leper.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

That Port Orange "Bogie."

This nation was founded upon "equal rights" for all. But in order that all might be secure in their rights it was found necessary to protect the many from the few, who, not content with equal rights, infringed, more or less boldly, upon the rights of their more quiet, inoffensive neighbors.

The fact is it has always been necessary to protect the many in their rights from the aggressions of the few. By far the larger part of our laws are necessary only because the few disregard the rights of the many.

It is because a few autoists have disregarded the rights, and put in jeopardy the life, limbs and property of the community, that such a strong aversion grew up against autoists, and made necessary, in order to protect the many, to define by statutes rules to regulate auto drivers. The many fair, considerate, and careful drivers suffer because of the reckless daring of the few. Just as all nations suffer because of the crimes and lawlessness of the few, who make necessary by far the larger part of the laws, and roll up the immense costs of the courts, police, etc.

The reference in the Daily News to the "raise" at Port Orange across Ridgewood gives the impression that all autoists are strenuously protesting, and that the "obstruction" was uncalled for, etc.

The writer has conversed with a number of fair minded auto owners who have stated that they considered that we were perfectly justified in stopping the reckless driving and dangerous speed, that some drivers have been indulging in.

Most autoists are careful and considerate of the rights of others, and pay reasonable regard to the speed limits, to the "slow" signs and sounding their horns.

But there are a few who seem to think that the earth with its fulness belongs to them alone, and that the public have no rights which they are bound to respect.

The Port Orange "raise" was not built to please those few auto drivers who recklessly rush along the roads, without regard to statutes, nor slack speed for streets, crossings, or turns; who pay little attention to slow signs, or think it necessary for them to sound their horns. We wanted to stop this sort. We expected them to object.

While the obstruction was being put in one owner accused the writer of "trying to ruin his tires;" declared that it was "illegal," an "outrage," etc. And pointing to some loose mail that had not yet been finished, said: "Why, that's 20 inches high." I walked over and measured the highest place and showed him that it was not more than 12 inches. Before smoothing any more, in the presence of witnesses I measured the highest place I could find and it was less than 12 inches. And this was before it was packed down. While we were at work a number of cars went by. Some glided over with very little difficulty. Some drivers increased their speed evidently to show what a terrible thing we were putting in the way and succeeded in getting quite a "jump." But careful drivers, who evidently understood their business had very little trouble.

Several very narrow escapes from serious accidents have occurred at this crossing. Autoists now sound their horns, and at least appear to have some regard for the lives of others, and manage to get over the eight or nine inch raise without very great inconvenience. J. B. CASE.

The Proposed Charter Changes

Editor Daily News: I see the council has ordered an informal ballot, Jan. 7th, as to whether the voters want a government by commission. It seems to me that it would be better to have the same sort of ballot as to the other proposed changes in our charter, and then let the legislature make the changes favored.

The charter which is to be amended is an act of the legislature and one of the laws of Florida, and it is not customary to have a state law amended by a city council. The judges of the supreme court, if the matter comes before them, may be surprised to learn that there is a law in the state of Florida which is not to be found in any of the books or archives of the state. And when they send to Daytona and ascertain that the "Municipal Court of the City of Daytona" has been created by city ordinance, and that all the judicial powers which the various legislatures have granted to mayors of incorporated towns and cities in this state have been taken from the mayor of Daytona, they will turn to section 25, article V, of the constitution of the state of Florida, and read: "No courts other than those herein specified shall be established in this state."

I am not a Florida lawyer and may be all wrong in my views, but it is better to discuss the matter before rather than after the vote is taken. If there is enough uncertainty about the legality of these changes to justify any litigation in carrying the matter to the supreme court, it would be better to allow the legislature to make the changes. The expenses of the litigation to sustain their validity would more than counterbalance the advantages of the few weeks gain in time of putting the changes in operation. If the decision should be against the city it might have the additional expense of many suits for damages for false arrest and imprisonment and illegal sale of impounded animals.

As our "municipal judge" is to be appointed for life and is to be appointed before the election of a successor to our present mayor, why should not voters be given the name of the proposed appointee? Why was not the appointment left to the next mayor? If the name is concealed, it must be because those who know it believe its disclosure would cause one or more votes to be cast against the amendment. Many will vote "no," because they think another person will be appointed, and others will vote "no," because they think the judge should be elected and not appointed, and others because they think the amendment should be made by the legislature. The result may be the defeat of the amendment, although a large majority of the voters may favor the establishment of a municipal court.

An informal preference ballot would determine whether the majority desired an elected or an appointed judge and whether his term should be for life or for a definite number of years, and who should act during his absence or disability.

OLD GAME IS WORKED AGAIN

Confidence Men in Paris Substituted a String of Imitation Pearls for Good Ones.

A Paris dealer in precious stones, M. Lagnel, was the victim of an audacious theft perpetrated by means of the time honored confidence trick. A few weeks ago M. Lagnel made the acquaintance of a young man who called himself Sognier. He was anxious to act as agent for M. Lagnel, and declared that he would be able to introduce wealthy clients.

A few days ago Sognier introduced to M. Lagnel a "wealthy friend" of his, whom he called M. Chevalier of Clermont-Ferrand, who desired to buy a pearl necklace for his wife. The two men called at M. Lagnel's office in the Rue du Temple, and M. Chevalier selected a necklace valued at $20,000. When about to pay he found that he had left his purse at his hotel. In order to be sure that the necklace would not be exchanged for another while he was absent in search of the money, Chevalier asked if it could be placed in a sealed envelope. This was done, and Chevalier and his friend disappeared.

As they failed to return, the jeweler made inquiries, but could find no trace of them. He then opened the sealed envelope and found it contained imitation pearls worth but a few francs. The thieves had cleverly substituted a second envelope for the one containing the necklace.—Paris Letter to the London Chronicle

CUPID'S DOMAIN IN BERLIN

Marriage Registry Office in That City Is Decorated With Symbols of Wedlock.

The marriage registry office is in all countries usually a bare and unsentimental scene, with its undecorated walls, superannuated green baize covered table and general air of stuffiness and parchment. Modern Berlin has introduced a new fashion by setting the stage, so to speak, in harmony with the performance—or is it drama?—to be enacted thereon.

At the very door the bridegroom's hand grasps a dove-shaped handle to procure him and his blushing companion admittance and in the dove's bill hang two intertwining rings. The small passage leading to the office contains a smiling statue of Amor with his bow and arrows, while on all sides, both in the passage and the office, is the eye met by the symbols of wedlock: rings, roses, hearts, locked hands and children's heads.

Even the ornaments of the pumps and stove are decorated in the same spirit, while on one of the office walls is a large bronze tablet with verses appropriate to the occasion. In such surroundings, remarks a writer in one of the papers, it must be almost a pleasure to get married.—European Letter to the New York Sun.

The question is frequently asked as to why there are fewer wild ducks here this winter than last season. The congregation of ducks here depends largely on the feed conditions and the small coho clams which constitute a great part of their diet when here are not numerous enough this winter to attract them. The scarcity of clams is probably due to the freshness of the river, owing to the heavy rainfall of the past summer.

The Intemann property on North Beach street is assuming very much the appearance of a boat yard of late, as Mr. Intemann is building and preparing there a number of rowboats which he will use for rental purposes during the season. He will conduct ten or a dozen rowboats in the business, which will be carried on from a wharf which he proposes to build in front of his residence.

DEATH SENTENCE COMMUTED

BY STATE BOARD OF PARDONS

NEGRO SENTENCED TO HANG IN ST. JOHNS COUNTY IS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE IN CONVICT CAMPS.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Dec. 28—James Woodberry, the negro convicted of murder in the first degree at the fall term of circuit court and sentenced to hang, will not die upon the gallows for his crime. Sheriff Perry has received from the state board of pardons a commutation of sentence for the negro and he has sent him to the convict lessees to serve the life term.

Woodberry was convicted at the fall term despite an able defense made by Attorney E. Noble Calhoun, appointed by the court to defend the negro. The evidence presented by the sheriff and his deputies was too strong and the negro was convicted and death was fixed as the penalty.

Got the Crowd.

A politician was elected on the merits of a single speech. All he said was, "Fellow countrymen, follow me to yonder liquor saloon."

NEW PARCELS POST SYSTEM

OFFERS RELIEF TO TOURISTS

LOCAL RESIDENTS THANKFUL TO UNCLE SAM FOR OPPORTUNITY TO BREAK AWAY FROM EXPRESS COMPANY.

The new government parcels post system will go into effect at 1 o'clock in the morning next Wednesday, the first day of the year 1913, and parcels up to 11 pounds in weight, and not exceeding 72 inches in length and girth combined, will be received at the postoffices to be transported by Uncle Sam at an average of 25 per cent, less than the present rates charged by the express companies.

The establishment of the parcels post January 1 will be the most tremendous business enterprise ever undertaken by the government, and it intimately concerns a majority of the 100,000,000 people who live under the American flag.

Employees of the local postoffices are preparing for a decided increase of business through the office as soon as the system goes into effect. As a matter of fact the employees of every postoffice in the United States, are looking for an increase in business, but the business through the Daytona office will be largely increased because of the better service furnished this city by the Southern Express company.

The residents of the city and the visitors here are thankful to their Uncle Sam for furnishing at least partial relief from the abominable express conditions.

ENTERTAIN DELIGHTFULLYAT CHRISTMAS DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Uebelhoff entertained most delightfully at dinner Christmas night. Christmas decorations were used in profusion throughout the artistic home. The chandeliers were hung with holly, the center domes lined with red and a soft red glow through the branches, also the fire places and electric lights were shaded with red throughout, casting a soft red glow on the pretty scene. The living room was a garden of poinsettias. At 7:15 o'clock the dining room doors were thrown open and the guests entered, each lady finding at her place a dainty silver frame with the picture copy of the Nativity by Albertini.

The table looked most attractive with a beautiful centerpiece of red carnations and maidenhair ferns, the cut glass shaded candles surrounded with same.

The guests were Mrs. C. E. Starr, Mrs. June, and Mrs. T. F. Cordis, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fogg, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rogers.
